BATTLESHIPS FOG-BOUND

New York, Jan. 6.—An actual case of the man who crawled into a hole and pulled the hole in after him is puzzling the police here tonight. And there is more interest in the hole than in the man who dug it, for a cursory inspection soon showed that, from an unobtrusive apearture in the floor of a tenement house cellar the hole presently striched into a tunnel, and the tunnel pointed in the direction of the vallts of the East Side branch of the Fourteenth street bank, with deposits of 10,000,000, and toward the safe of a jewelry shop next door, in which there

No Trace of Finkelstein.

Digging continued all the afternoon and all night, with crowds of curious persons in attendance. The work went slowly, both because of the depth of the excavation and the necessity for caution. At a point beyond the first obstruction a fork in the tunnel was found, which there split into two branches, one of which headed for the bank vaults and the other for the jewelry shop. In all, the diggers had uncovered about fifty feet of burrowing, with no trace of the body of Finkelstein late tonight.

CABINET MEMBERS CALLED.

For Conference at the White House The Pinchot Letter Said to Have Aroused the President,

Washington, Jan. 5.—Lete this afternoon, after reading the newspaper reports of the lively tilt caused in the senate by the reading of a letter addressed to Senator Dolliver, as chairman of the senate committee on agriculture, by Gifford Pinchot, in which the chief forester vigorously upheld the subordinates in his office for the aid they gave Louis R. Glavis in the reports he made public attacking Secretary of the Interior Bailinger, President Taft sent out a hurried order for such members of his cabinet as were within reach. It was said that Forester Pinchot's conduct in sending an official com-munication to the chairman of a conressional committee was freely dis-cussed, but none of the cabinet offi-ers who participated in the confer-ence would discuss their call to the White house in any way.

President Taft some time ago issued an order that no sibordinate in any government department should disclose any information to congress except through the head of the department.

Direct Slap at the President.

In his letter Mr. Pinchot virtually uphelds Glavis and describes him as "the most vigorous defender of the people's interests," notwithstanding President Taft declared Glavis unfit longer to remain in public service. This direct slap at the president and the further declaration by Mr. Pinchot that the Cunningham coal lands were really about to go to fraudulent claimants until Glavis and the forestry bureau officials took a hand in the fight, thus impugning the interior department, are said to have aroused Mr. Taft to keen resentment.

The president is said to have felt for some time that Mr. Pinchot has been "defying the lightning," and some action as to his course in writing the letter is not unexpected.
